

The Department of Environmental Studies and Randolph G. Pack Environmental Institute at SUNY-ESF Present

A Mini-Series of Brownbag Lunchtime Talks on

Climate Action: Sociological Perspectives on the Challenges of Environmental Governance

❖ Wed., Jan. 30, Noon – 1 pm, Nifkin Alumni Lounge, Marshall Hall

Sustainable Biofuels: Governance in a Globalizing System

Prof. Arthur Mol, Chair, Environmental Policy Group, Dept. of Social Sciences, Wageningen University, the Netherlands

❖ Thurs., Jan. 31

Focus the Nation: Global Warming Teach-In

Local activities, see: <http://enspire.syr.edu/FTN/>

❖ Wed., Feb. 13, Noon – 1 pm, Nifkin Alumni Lounge, Marshall Hall

Open Space Conservation and Changing Settlement Patterns in the Northeastern US: An Analysis with Implications for Greenhouse Gas Emissions

Prof. Thomas Rudel, Depts. of Human Ecology and Sociology, Rutgers Univ., New Brunswick, NJ

❖ Wed., Mar. 5 (CANCELED)

A Climate of Injustice: Global Inequality, North-South Politics, and Climate Policy

Dr. Bradley Parks, Millennium Challenge Corp. (confirmed); and Prof. J. Timmons Roberts, Dept. of Sociology and Environmental Science and Policy Pgm., College of William & Mary (invited)

❖ Wed., Apr. 23, Noon – 1 pm, Rm. 110, Moon Library

Sovereign States and Climate Treaties: Why National Hazard Policies Limit International Cooperation

Professor Karen O'Neill, Dept. of Human Ecology, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ

In cooperation with colleagues at Syracuse University and Cornell University

Open to the general public

Further information: <es-info@esf.edu>, tel. +1.315.470.6636