

Josh Stack

Josh Stack

Consultant, Northeast Green Building Consulting, LLC

Josh focuses on applying ecological performance standards in the framework of Coevolutionary Design, a unique design and policy methodology. He is a Biomimicry Institute trained designer, an alum of the Peruvian rainforest.

He is also a counselor at law, admitted in New York, and has BS in Biology (focusing in Ecology & Evolutionary Biology) from Cornell University, a Juris Doctor from the SUNY Buffalo College of Law, and a Master of Laws from the New York University (NYU) School of Law.

His current projects include a coevolutionary design prototype (to be built in 2009), a holistic community deconstruction initiative, a diversity of LEED education and ecoliteracy projects.