

Ed Bogucz, PhD, Executive Director, SyracuseCoE

Ed Bogucz has served since 2003 as Executive Director of the SyracuseCoE, New York State's Center of Excellence in Environmental and Energy Systems.

SyracuseCoE is an industry-university collaborative organization that accelerates the creation of pioneering technologies and integrated systems in clean and renewable energy, indoor environmental quality, and water resources. Previously, Ed served more than eight years as Syracuse University's Dean of Engineering and Computer Science. He first came to Syracuse University in 1985 as a faculty member in mechanical and aerospace engineering. His teaching and research expertise includes fluid mechanics, heat transfer, and multidisciplinary analysis and design. Ed is a 2011 recipient of the Chancellor's Citation for Excellence, which seeks to recognize enactment of Education for the World—in the World, and SyracuseCoE was honored to have received the U.S. Green Building Council's Leadership Award in 2010.
