The SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry and the SUNY Leadership Institute offer a unique, intensive and interactive program for leaders on college campuses. The Adirondack Leadership Challenge combines a stunningly beautiful wilderness environment with leadership development to create a trip that is transformational.

Participants will:
- Spend three days in a wilderness setting, immersing themselves in indoor and outdoor learning activities
- Experience and apply leadership models that directly influence their performance as a leader.
- Participate in group problem-solving tasks and interactive discussions

This experience focuses on creating leaders equipped to thrive within the complexities of higher education. The Adirondack Leadership Challenge can change people’s lives — time after time, leader after leader.

LOCATION: ESF’s Newcomb Campus is home to the Northern Forest Institute and Adirondack Ecological Center. The Newcomb Campus is located on ESF’s Huntington Wildlife Forest (HWF), a 15,000 acre field station in the central Adirondacks.

REGISTRATION: Registration opens November 6, 2015. To register please email newcomb@esf.edu with “Adirondack Leadership Trek Registration” in the subject line.

COST: $550/person; plus lodging and meals $75/day.

For additional information about participating in this program, please contact:
Paul Hai at pbhai@esf.edu or Lee Riddell at lee.Riddell@suny.edu

Space is limited to 18 participants.

For more information visit www.esf.edu/newcomb