Dear Friends,

This is a special time for our College. Celebrating the Centennial of the SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry in 2011 gives us an opportunity to celebrate ESF’s first century of achievements while preparing for the challenges the College will face in the coming years.

Funding for public colleges and universities across the country has changed over the last 100 years. Today, money from private donations plays a major role both in a public institution’s ability to develop and deliver quality educational programs and in enabling students to pursue their dreams for the future. We are proud to acknowledge the generosity of the many supporters of ESF in this Honor Roll of Donors.

With many exciting opportunities on the horizon for ESF’s second 100 years, the College has embarked on its largest and most comprehensive fundraising effort – The Centennial Campaign for ESF. With a goal of raising $20 million, The Centennial Campaign for ESF will provide financial resources essential to the future success of the College in educating the environmental leaders of tomorrow.

We ask for your continued support as The Centennial Campaign for ESF enters the public phase this year. The vital work of the College needs your generous help as we all work together to help bright young people learn to take the lead in improving the world in which we live.

Sincerely,

Cornelius B. Murphy, Jr.
President, SUNY-ESF

Centennial Hall Student Lounge

Stickley Furniture

ESF students living on campus this year are making history by being the first to enjoy life in a residence hall built just for them.

Centennial Hall, a $30 million project built in just 16 months at the west end of campus, is the first in the world to offer residents a full line of the new L. & J.G. Stickley Company Campus Collection, a sustainable hardwood furniture manufactured by a local company.

Living quarters in Centennial Hall, which houses 452 students, contain custom-designed beds, dressers, dining tables and chairs made by the Manlius-based company. Four student lounges throughout the building are furnished with Stickley’s traditional lines of chairs, sofas and tables. Stickley’s designers worked with the College to provide flexibility desired by students, including stacking and locking the beds if they want bunk beds, adjusting mattress heights to allow dressers to go under the beds, and stacking and locking dressers themselves.

“It’s been an honor to participate on the Centennial Hall project, and very fitting that Stickley’s new Campus Collection makes its debut right here in Syracuse at SUNY-ESF,” said Edward Audi, executive vice president and owner of the company, an emeritus member of the ESF College Foundation Board of Directors. “Durable solidwood construction, flexible configurations and affordability along with sustainability come together in a collection that will provide decades of service.”

Frank Moses

As a student at Marcellus High School in the 1990s, Frank Moses was a part of a team that won Operation Green Eyes, a national environmental competition sponsored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The team, which designed a reclamation project for a mining company, won $10,000.

That team was led by highly-acclaimed teacher Heidi Busa, an ESF grad who helped inspire Moses to go to ESF himself. After graduating from ESF in 2001, Moses worked for 18 months in the College's development office.

Today, Moses – the director of the Montezuma Audubon Center – is giving back to ESF in another way: he's made a five-year campaign pledge as part of the College's centennial celebration, and he's a Graduate of the Last Decade (GOLD) member of the 1911 Society. GOLD members are eligible to join the 1911 Society by making a gift of at least $19.11 per month or a total of $229.32 to the Annual Fund in their first decade out of ESF, rather than an annual unrestricted gift of $1,911.

"I gave back to the College because of all the positive experiences I had," Moses said. "I wouldn't be in the professional position I'm in without ESF. And having been involved in the development office gives me a greater appreciation of where that help goes."

Frank Moses '01

Frank Moses

As a student at Marcellus High School in the 1990s, Frank Moses was a part of a team that won Operation Green Eyes, a national environmental competition sponsored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The team, which designed a reclamation project for a mining company, won $10,000.

That team was led by highly-acclaimed teacher Heidi Busa, an ESF grad who helped inspire Moses to go to ESF himself. After graduating from ESF in 2001, Moses worked for 18 months in the College's development office.

Today, Moses – the director of the Montezuma Audubon Center – is giving back to ESF in another way: he's made a five-year campaign pledge as part of the College's centennial celebration, and he's a Graduate of the Last Decade (GOLD) member of the 1911 Society. GOLD members are eligible to join the 1911 Society by making a gift of at least $19.11 per month or a total of $229.32 to the Annual Fund in their first decade out of ESF, rather than an annual unrestricted gift of $1,911.

"I gave back to the College because of all the positive experiences I had," Moses said. "I wouldn't be in the professional position I'm in without ESF. And having been involved in the development office gives me a greater appreciation of where that help goes."

Charles and Betsy Morgan

The Morgans, hikers with lifelong roots in the Adirondacks, made a significant gift several years ago toward restoration of Huntington Lodge at the College’s Huntington Wildlife Forest in the Adirondacks. They are now contemplating a larger gift to help refurbish the College’s Adirondack Interpretive Center, in Newcomb, NY.

Charles, who is an emeritus member of the ESF College Foundation board, has also contributed many important ideas to ESF over the years, including the use of cutting-edge computer software in the development office and the creation of the 1911 Society.

Charles, who works at Morgan Stanley, initially got involved with ESF by helping the College significantly grow its endowment. “I bought into the mission that ESF can educate people in areas that can make a difference in the world,” he said.

Betsy, who currently serves on the ESF College Foundation board, is also on the board of the Adirondack Museum in Blue Mountain Lake. ESF’s “attempts at being green have been very successful and have shown the way for other people,” she said.

Frederick and Virginia Parker

Fritz and Ginny Parker, both former educators with a love for the outdoors in general and the Adirondacks in particular, are big fans of the College's Adirondack Interpretive Center. They have made a gift to renovate a classroom building there.

“We feel deeply about the future of the environment, and we felt the Center’s goals are totally in line with what we’d like to see happen — to have kids outside and experience and value nature like we do,” said Ginny, a co-founder of a Montessori school that opened in Syracuse in 1975.

“What they’re doing at the Interpretive Center is very worthwhile,” said Fritz, a retired surgeon and teacher at Upstate Medical University who also serves on the ESF College Foundation board. “The staff is really impressive, they do a great job.”

Fritz, a past member of the Syracuse Symphony board, and Ginny, who is active with Syracuse Stage, vacation every year on Crystal Lake on the western edge of the Adirondacks at a home that’s been in the Parker family since the 1850s.

The Edwin H. Ketchledge Scholarship

The Ketchledge Scholarship was established at SUNY-ESF in 2010 following the death of Dr. Edwin H. Ketchledge.

“Ketch” was a decorated World War II Purple Heart and Bronze Star veteran who was seriously wounded in Italy. He graduated from ESF in 1949 and received a master’s degree from the University of Michigan and his PhD from Stanford University.

Ketch taught at ESF for 30 years, retiring in 1985. He served as director of Cranberry Lake Biological Station for many years, was renowned for his work restoring alpine plants on the summits of Adirondack High Peaks, and received many awards, including the SUNY Distinguished Teaching Professor designation in 1975 and the ESF Lifetime Achievement Award in 2007.

An avid outdoorsman, Ketch loved taking solo trips into the backcountry to be alone with the natural world, where he felt most at home. He was revered by students, whose gifts quickly brought the scholarship fund well above $30,000 following the news of Ketch’s passing.

A passionate teacher who inspired countless others, Ketch tried to create “a larger community of people who respected and appreciated the outdoors and natural world, and believed that this understanding would have a multiplying effect as the circles of human interaction spread out far beyond what he could ever touch in person,” his son, James, said during a memorial service at the Wild Center in Tupper Lake in 2010.

Ray Smith

Ray Smith started working at the Davey Expert Tree Co. when he was 16.

His first job? “Learning how to climb a tree,” he said. “I started right from scratch.”

Smith climbed right up the ladder at Davey, from clearing power lines and transplanting big trees to regional vice president, his position when he retired in 1990 after more than 40 years with the national tree service company.

A survivor of pancreatic cancer (1998), Smith hung up his tree-climbing shoes long ago, but he still has a green thumb – you can often find him in his back yard, tending to his flower and vegetable gardens. The Tonawanda, NY resident, whose teenage work experiences influenced his decision to major in forestry at ESF (class of ’52), established a scholarship fund for undergrad students, named after him and his late wife, Rita. Smith also has arranged a bequest of at least $1 million to the scholarship.

“I think it’s a fantastic college, doing an absolutely wonderful job,” said Smith, whose nephew, Kevin G. Smith, earned his undergrad and master’s degrees at ESF. “Considering the way the environment is today, we need every one we can get on the job.”

Betsy and Bill Elkins

Betsy Elkins, an Emerita of ESF, and her husband Bill have been members of the 1911 Society for several years -- those who make an unrestricted gift to the ESF Annual Fund of at least $1,911.

“We want to support important things in our community,” said Betsy, who joined the ESF Moon Library staff in 1973 and retired in 2009 after a 14-year run as library director. “I love ESF.”

Through his wife, Bill got to know many staffers and students over the years. “I sort of feel I married into a great family,” said Bill, who was so well known around the library that he was sometimes introduced as “Mr. Betsy.” An architect and watercolor artist, Bill served as artist-in-residence at an ESF reunion in August at Cranberry Lake.

For these two outdoors lovers, the summer of 2011 was tough to beat – climbing Mt. Marcy with four grandchildren and other family members, canoe camping with relatives in the St. Regis Canoe Area, and a western trip that included plenty of wildlife and Old Faithful in Yellowstone National Park.

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS
SRC Graduate Student Fellowship

SRC Inc. in 2010 established a fellowship of $250,000 to support ESF graduate students working in advanced areas of science and technology. SRC is a not-for-profit research and development company and SRCtec is its high-tech manufacturing and lifecycle support subsidiary. Together, they are “redefining possible®” with unique, next generation solutions in defense, environment and intelligence. The company employs 1,100 people nationwide, including about 800 in Central New York.

The company, whose philanthropic focus is on education, especially Science, Technology, Engineering and Math, believes ESF does a great job preparing students for STEM careers which will ultimately benefit the community, the country and advance SRC’s mission: helping to keep America safe and strong.

By encouraging youth to enter STEM fields and creating jobs to employ them, SRC aims to keep talent in Central New York. In fact, SRC employs 15 ESF graduates, including company president Paul Tremont, class of ’78.

“SRC is focused on problems of national significance,” Tremont said. “Investing in ESF and its students will further advance the science and technology in areas such as renewable energy, molecular biology, and chemistry. This program also enables the development of new, innovative solutions for our country’s most challenging problems.”

Each month for the past year, Amanda L. Cummings has made a donation to the Class of 1951 Scholarship, which she received as an ESF student in 2007, 2008, and 2009.

That scholarship, started in 2002 by Gabriel Buschle, Jay McConnell, and Carl Miller, was endowed by members of the class of ’51 and is awarded to undergraduate students based on financial need, academic merit and strength of character.

“I just felt like I should give back for all the help they gave me,” said Cummings, who now works as a nuclear chemist for Ginna Nuclear Power Station in Ontario, N.Y. She hopes to go to law school in the fall of 2012.

Cummings earned 16 different scholarships when she graduated from high school, most of which helped defray costs her first year at ESF. Cummings also worked three jobs during college, which enabled her to get through without taking out any student loans – as a technical writer, at the Disney Store at Carousel Mall, and by helping handicapped individuals.

She also was a teaching assistant for 3 ½ years to Dr. Sarah Vonhof, who teaches two history classes with an environmental twist. “She’s an amazing teacher,” Cummings said. “She puts everything in perspective, and she’s very fair.”
