Native Earth

Summer Stewardship Camp
August 15-22, 2015

The SUNY-ESF Center for Native Peoples and the Environment will host the 6th annual Native Earth camp for indigenous youth of the northeast region. The Summer Stewardship Camp will replace the Environmental Youth Camp held in Cranberry Lake this year.

The camp will be held at the Adirondack Ecological Center in Newcomb, NY. Participants will explore remote areas of the Adirondacks to observe and participate in environmental stewardship activities as well as camp, hike, fish and swim in the beautiful Adirondack Mountains!

Native Earth programs are open to Native American high school students (grades 9-12) from indigenous nations of the northeast and a limited number of chaperone positions.

For more information and an application, follow the Native Earth Summer Camp link at the Center for Native Peoples and the Environment website www.esf.edu/nativepeoples or contact Neil Patterson Jr. nvpatter@esf.edu or Dr. Robin Kimmerer rkimmer@esf.edu

Applications are due by June 26, 2015.
