Title: Phosphorus and potassium uptake kinetics in red maple seedlings

Thank you for your help. Referee review of manuscripts is central to scientific publication, but the process could not function without the substantial investments of time and energy made by the referees.

Instructions to reviewers: Please provide us with your opinion on the suitability of this manuscript for publication in Forest Science. It would be helpful if you used the following questions to guide your review. Specific comments for transmittal to the author(s) should be typed and anonymous unless there is a reason for you to make yourself known to the author(s). Only manuscript pages with notes in the margins need to be returned. Manuscripts in review are confidential documents and should be returned or destroyed.
